NOTICE.

In the preparation of this edition of the Catalogue, the Committee on Revision has endeavored to carry out the plan already adopted. The defects that occur are mainly due to imperfect records and the indifference of correspondents.

For the purpose of improving future editions of the Catalogue, the Committee respectfully, but urgently, reiterates its appeal to the graduates and other friends of the University to communicate any information supplying omissions or correcting errors concerning the graduates to "The Corresponding Secretary of the Society of the Alumni, Departments of Arts and Science, University of Pennsylvania, West Philadelphia."

EXPLANATIONS.

Names printed in italics are those of clergymen.

Names printed in SMALL CAPITALS are those of members of the bar.

Names printed in ITALIC CAPITALS are those of clergymen who have been admitted members of the bar.

Deceased graduates are marked with a †.

(Engr.) after a name signifies engineer.

When a degree, honorary or taken in course, is followed by a date without the name of any college, it has been conferred by the University.

Professor, Tutor, Trustee, etc., not being followed by the name of any college, indicate position held in the University.

N.B. These explanations refer only to the lists of graduates.

OF THE

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

The "Constitutions of the Publick Academy in the City of Philadelphia" was signed by the Trustees, elected by the contributors, November 13, 1749.

The institution was incorporated by the Proprietaries, July 13, 1753, as "The Academy and Charitable School in the Province of Pennsylvania." An additional charter was granted June 16, 1755, changing the title to "The College, Academy, and Charitable School of Philadelphia, in the Province of Pennsylvania."

The first commencement was held May 17, 1757, in the College Hall.

The Medical Department was organized May 3, 1765, and the first degrees were conferred, June 21, 1768, at a special commencement, the graduates in Arts not taking their degrees until December.

The charters were abrogated by an act of Assembly, passed September 27, 1779, which at the same time created a new institution, under the title of "The University of the State of Pennsylvania," and vested in it the property of the College.

The College was revived by an act of Assembly, passed March 6, 1789, repealing so much of the act of 1779 as deprived the College of its charter and property.

The institutions maintained separate existences until November, 1791, when, in pursuance of an act of Assembly, passed on the 30th of September of that year, they were united as "The University of Pennsylvania."

Until 1850 the University was composed of the Department of Arts and the Medical Department; in that year the Law Department was organized.

In 1851 the "Department of Chemistry applied to the Arts" was added. This was changed, in 1855, to the "Department of Mines, Arts, and Manufactures," and again, in 1863, to the "College of Agriculture, Mines, Arts, and Mechanic Arts." In 1872 the name was once more changed, to "The Department of Science," and this, in 1875, became "The Towne Scientific School."

A "Department of Fine Arts," established in 1861, was abolished in 1869.

The "Department of Music" was added in 1877, and the "Department of Dentistry" in 1878.
